You may print the document from your own printer onto Letter/A4 paper, and join the sheets together to create the final actual size pattern. You will need to cut the edges of each sheet using the trim marks as guides (your printer will not print to the very edge of the page) and then join them together using tape.

Large format printing through a copy shop

You may prefer to have the document printed through a copy shop or bureau, such as Kinkos. Large scale black and white copies from digital files are inexpensive. Colour printing will be more expensive. You may be able to e-mail the document, or need to deliver it on disc. Check with your local copy shop for further advice.

Kinkos have branches in the following countries: Australia, Korea, Canada, United Arab Emirates, Netherlands, China, Japan, and the United Kingdom. To find the closest Kinkos branch to you, visit the Kinkos website at www.kinkos.com to access the homepage. Click "Locations" in the blue band at the top of the page, scroll down to the bottom of the page and you will see international Kinkos locations. If you click on a country, a list of branches will be provided with their contact information. In the US, you may also find your nearest location by calling the 24-hour Hotline at 1-800-2-KINKOS (800-254-6567).
